Public Consultation on the European Solidarity Corps

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

The European Solidarity Corps will create opportunities for young people to support communities and people in need. These opportunities will include volunteering and solidarity-related jobs, traineeships and apprenticeships, both in the young people's home countries and abroad.

The Commission is now consulting stakeholders and the general public to define key priorities and shape the implementation of the European Solidarity Corps.

This public consultation builds on an initial, targeted consultation of a selection of key stakeholders in late 2016. The questions of the initial consultation were broad, focussing on the potential and the challenges of creating a European Solidarity Corps.

The consultation results will inform the Commission's legislative proposal.

General questions to all respondents

At present, a European Solidarity Corps placement can be either as a volunteer ('the volunteering strand') or as an apprentice, trainee or employee ('the occupational strand').

At the moment the person needs to be between 17 and 30 years when registering; the actual European Solidarity Corps placement cannot start before the age of 18.

The geographical scope of the European Solidarity Corps currently covers the EU and, where relevant, other countries participating in the various existing financing instruments contributing to the European Solidarity Corps.

What should be the priorities of the European Solidarity Corps?

		,		,	,
hetween	7	and.	4 1	cha	VCAS

- Strengthening solidarity activities benefitting people and communities in need
- Creating more opportunities for young people to express their solidarity
- Creating more opportunities for organisations to do solidarity projects
- Promoting the engagement of young people in society
- Creating opportunities for cross-border mobility for young people
- Creating opportunities for in-country mobility for young people
- Creating opportunities for young people to improve their skills and competences

The European Solidarity Corps (ESC) can be described as a "top down" attempt to promote the social dimension of Europe, alongside the Social Pillar process. This is not necessarily negative — youth need employment, volunteerism can promote solidarity and bring new skills.

However, the ESC needs to be a "triple win": for young people, for the participating NGOs / agencies, and most of all for local communities and local authorities.

EPHA is concerned that the process is too rushed since there was no opportunity to provide more in-depth inputs prior to the recent stakeholder meetings. As discussions are now taking place in various fora (including the Health Policy Forum in the health sector) and involving various DGs - including DG SANTÉ, many NGOs would welcome continuous involvement in the evaluation and improvement of the process in light of this experience, and to further explore how the health sector could contribute..
