About EPHA

The European Public Health Alliance (EPHA) is a change agent – Europe’s leading NGO advocating for better health. We are a dynamic member-led organisation, made up of 78 European and national level public health NGOs, patient groups, health professionals and disease groups.

Recent examples of successfully shaping policies include setting the agenda for affordability and accessibility of human medicines, mainstreaming health in the Common Agriculture Policy, stricter CO2 emission standards for cars or reflecting key EPHA asks in the new EU4health programme, just to name a few. To find out more about EPHA and our work, please see: https://epha.org/about-us/

EPHA’s work on Healthy Recovery

The environmental and climate emergencies are major threats to public health. The systemic changes in ecological conditions and social dynamics will have far-reaching effects on human health and well-being, including through air pollution, heat waves, floods, water shortages, infectious diseases, respiratory and cardiovascular diseases, under-nutrition and mental ill-health.

The COVID-19 pandemic has revealed how our biodiversity, human and animal health are ultimately connected. Degradation of nature, polluting the air, water and soil, the emission of greenhouse gases are all causing an existential crisis for our planet. To tackle these challenges, a coherent policy approach is needed to urgently change the way our society is organised.

At the centre of these crises is the unsustainable transport sector with the related health pollutants and greenhouse gas emissions. Breathing is the most basic human function to sustain life. And yet, air pollution remains the largest environmental health risk in Europe, despite increasing awareness of the health impacts of air pollution over decades.

EPHA’s advocacy work addresses transport related, health harmful air pollution by targeting European, national, regional and city level policies in cooperation with its members and partners.
About the Role

We are seeking a highly motivated and proactive individual to support EPHA’s advocacy and policy work on the post-COVID-19 Healthy Recovery, having the European Green Deal at its centre. The successful applicant will support projects relevant for this policy field at EPHA that may include, but are not limited to, engaging with and galvanise the medical community to raise awareness about the health impacts of air pollution and actively engage key health stakeholders in an international campaign against the impacts of transport related air pollution on people’s health.

We anticipate this role will develop in line with EPHA’s work on the European Green Deal and a Healthy Recovery, with the post-holder shaping future priorities and responsibilities. This will be a full-time role, initially under a 6 months contract (renewable dependent on performance and further funding). Overarching direction and role objectives will come from EPHA’s Secretary General.

We offer the chance to join a growing international network of organisations campaigning for improving population health in Europe by reducing health inequalities and to help shape policies with huge implications for public health in Europe and beyond.

The successful candidate will have a solid track record in the management of international, especially EU funded, projects.

The post is full-time (38hr/week) and is offered in accordance with Belgian national legislation according to EPHA’s salary grade. All applicants must be qualified, eligible, and able to work in Belgium without requiring a work visa. We are unfortunately not able to provide financial assistance to relocate to Brussels/Belgium.
